Bund und Blatt

A Newsletter about the German Colony

Established at Broad Bay, Maine 1742 -1753

Dear Members,

Please accept my apologies for the slowness of getting this newsletter out. Due to a number of issues this year, I have not been able to devote as much time as I would have liked to anything unrelated to my family or work. I will try to have another newsletter out by the middle to end of June to get caught up. If you have any information you would like added to any newsletter please write it down neatly or type it up. It makes it much easier to enter into the computer.

Sincerely,

Renee Seiders

Reunion Weekend

is July 31 and August 1, 1999 this year. Enclosed you will find a schedule of events and a registration form. Please fill it out and return it by July 14, 1999. You will still be able to register at the door on Saturday but reservations for the luncheon need to be made by then.

WALDOBORO DAY

is scheduled for June 19th, 1999. There will be a parade, lawn sales, family history, music and food. It will begin at 8:00 and continue throughout the day until 9:00 P.M. Come join the fun.

Waldoboro Loyalists

Commonly called Tories during the Revolution

Reprinted from the Lincoln County News, January 23, 1896, page 1

After Reverend Jacob Bailey, who, at the time of the war of the Revolution was Loyalist, or Tory, went to Halifax in 1779, among others to whom he wrote in a letter to General McLean, then commanding at Maja-baggaduce (now Castine). The English then held Penobscot, and some of Bailey's friends were there. In this special letter, dated July 16, 1779, he says, "Since it was my fortune to be an itinerant missionary for nineteen years on the eastern frontiers of New England, especially in the districts on the Kennebec River, I hope you will not esteem it altogether impertinent to address you in this manner. My employment gave me an opportunity of obtaining a knowledge of the country, and of the connections, and behavior of its inhabitants, and I humbly presume that your attention to the enclosed may conduce in some measure to promote his majesty's service."

Then follows a list of 160 names of prominent settlers along the coast and on the Kennebec River who were loyalists, besides many whom he does not mention by name. At Bristol and Broad Bay, he gives the following:

Benjamin Palmer, Nathaniel Palmer & son, Cornelius Rhodes & son, John Martin, Dr. Martin Shepard, Michael Sprague & 2 sons, Capt. David Vinal, Peter Cremor & 2 sons, George Cremor, George Young, George Light, Briggs Turner, Cornelius Turner, Robert Turner, Robert Turner, Alexander Turner, Jonas Fitch, Jonathan Jones, Rodolph Gier, Mr. Cyder?, Mr. Umberhind. And in general all the Dutch families in Broadbay except ten or twelve families.

Mr. Bailey made the very common error, then and now, of calling the German people Dutch. In addition to the above, he gives a list of those in Woolwich, Georgetown, Pownalboro, and in parts of Lincoln County then without the bounds of any town, of whom Capt. Waterman, St. Georges (now Thomaston) was one; and he encloses the letter by affirming that if Brigadier Charles Cushing, Justices James Howard, Joseph North, Jonathan Bowman, Nathaniel Thwing, and Colonels McCobb and Jones were removed or expelled the country "I am fully convinced there would be no opposition to British government in the county of Lincoln".

REUNION NEWS

Send in the date of your reunion or a brief write up about it and we will include it in the newsletter.

Photos will be able to be scanned in later this year.

I presume Mr. Bailey knew whereof he affirmed. Certain it is that many names, which he claimed were well known as Tories and possibly some descendents of the above persons

From The President

March 1999

Spring is finally here. Just about time for Randy and I to get out and do some cemetery clearing, etc.

Letters have been pouring in and I can answer a few major ones here:

Since the beginning of our organization, the date of our annual get-together was set to coincide with the annual German Church Service. The two separate entities involved benefit greatly - Publicity and Financially. A good percentage of the participants come from away, some even from Germany. Many have habitually chosen August to take their yearly vacations.

There has been some concern about changing the annual event to coincide with Waldoboro Day, in June. We started in 1998 to hold our genealogical outlines and displays at the Meenagha Grange on this day too, as we will again this year. Turnout was light but we were successful and hope more participation in June 1999. The "official" Annual get together will still coincide with the Annual German Church Service. (This year the dates are July 31st and August 1st).

Good news about dues! It won't be going up. Two or three members have written recently about the $20 a year being too much for what they receive in return. Well, maybe so.

Our largest expenditure is doing the newsletter; we will have four quarterly issues out this year (1999, maybe slightly late). Printing and postage would go down substantially, if we double the present membership. Thus it will be possible to decrease by 25%.

Renee, our treasurer, does a mighty fine job in controlling cash out flow. In the past eight years we've managed to break even, (or slightly better), and we haven't gone in the red. At this point, the purchase of a decent photocopier for our August Genealogy Day would help reduce the cost of the production of the quarterly newsletter - substantially. But it would surely put us in the red. Next year maybe.

Our schedule for July 31st and August 1st is set. Mailings will go out with the next newsletter to help reduce costs.

Keep those letters and queries coming!

Respectfully yours,

Marl Denner

A CHRISTMAS PIE

Lincoln County News - December 27, 1923 (reprint)

Little "John Acorn" will never go back on The Pie Belt in which he was born;

He is known to have said ---

With a wag of his head ----

While eating one Christmas morn ---

"This is the best pie that was ever made by my mother or my grandmother!"

And here is what he was talking about ----

1 cup ground Boston Crackers, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1/3 cup vinegar and lemon juice equal parts, 1 cup water, 3/4 cup melted butter, 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 3/4 teaspoon cassia, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, _ to taste, 1 cup whole raisins, soak over night in cup of cold water, then boil five minutes, (mix all together).

An innocent Yankee mince pie, one for either young or old, a pie unlike any other, one that in spite of the ground Boston Crackers wit which it begins, and because of the whole raisins with which it ends must take rank among the best very made.

For the crust _ 1 cup pastry flour, 1/3 cup shortening, 1/2 small teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons of cold water - just enough to make a stiff dough.

Mince meat three fourths of an inch thick, with upper and under pastry very thin and yet, reliable, that each piece maybe picked up, turned over under side up and eaten end on while held in the hand.

A Christmas pie should not be thin, for stinginess does not go with Christmas, and the pastry should not be thick, lest it usurp the flavor of the mince meat. Do not mince the raisins that go into this pie, as each bite with a whole raisin in it leaves distinctive memories that, in after years, persist and taste almost as good as the pie did. I remember to this day the raisin that was in sight in MY piece of Christmas pie, when I was a boy.]

Serve a WHOLE PIE to each Christmas guest with a pitcher of rich milk, Why save anything else?

"May joy and kindly love abound

Whenever Christmas day comes round."

RIDDLE of the RITTALS

Joyce Ball Brown found this bit of Rittal genealogy that may correct or add to what is in the "Broad Bay Pioneers" by W. Whitaker.

Joyce noted some differences between what is shown here and what W. W. Whitaker shows: place born and name of ship Francis RITTAL came in 1753. Also interesting to note that a' according to this new material, the Saint Andrew sailed up the Kennebec and dropped off people in Dresden before coming to Broad Bay. (Need to see what Stahl's book has to say about this, if anything.)

This material is quoted from "Boothbay Area Genealogy" - Update of Genealogy of Green's History of Boothbay, by Boothbay Region Genealogy Group, 1989, copy at Skidompha Library, Damariscotta, Maine.

OVERLOCK Family

submitted by

Diana OVERLOCK SEWALL

1. Anna Margaretha (b. 1754) did not marry Johannes Simon Hyler. (He was married to Nancy HANDLEY).

There is no record of her marriage but I have wondered = Could she be the Margaret who m. George LIGHT, Jr. born 28 August 1742, Oschelbronn, Germany, son of Johann Georg and Anna (ZOLLER) LEICHT? George LIGHT, Jr. died in 1786 and she is probably the widow LIGHT in 1790 Census, 1-4-3. 1800 - She and her family are gone from Waldoboro. They went to Washington as did John Joseph OVERLOCK soon after.

2. I strongly doubt that John Joseph's (b. 1748) 1st wife is a Jane JAMESON. His 2nd wife (my ancestress) is Mrs. Kristiana () ALSTINE (perhaps German for "ELSTLEIN" and certainly not the daughter of Andreas and Veronica ELFEIN.)

Joseph OVERLOCK (Will's 36 under John Joseph) is the son of Frank/Francis and Catherine Elizabeth (WINCHENBACH) OVERLOCK and lived near the Goshen area of Waldoboro near his father. Joseph, the son of John Joseph, married Sally NELSON and lived in Washington.

Sally OVERLOCK (Will's #8) m. Charles ESANCY, son of the Hessian Henry ESANCY which is well documented.

3. "Frank Henry OVERLOCK" born 20 June 1765 should be 2 sons: Frank and Henry. Frank resided in the Goshen area and Henry at Winslow Mills area. I believe Will has their children mixed up.

4. Anna Elisabeth OBERLACH (born

1750 in Germany) was not recorded in this country as were the other living children. I believe she died and did not marry a CLAUS.

5. John OVERLOCK (b. 1756) did not m. Augusta LAGENAUER. If you look on page 239 of Will's book in the memoir of Sophia (KASTNER) LAGENAUER - she says "Here [Broad Bay] her daughter Augusta was born who died as a child." I have found absolutely no further record of this John.

6. Of children Will attributes to this John: Jacob (recorded as George) and John are sons of Henry. Joseph is son of John Joseph. Catherine (born c. 1791) is the daughter of Charles and she m. 2nd John CREAMER. The John enumerated in the 1790 Waldoboro census is John-Joseph. You will notice that John-Joseph has the same neighbor, John William KALER, in 1790 and 1800.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

by Joyce Ball Brown and Dexter Eustis

Topic: Going in Circles

Doing German research can lead to new uses of otherwise familiar words. For example, the word "circle". Besides the usual Maine meanings we all now accept: (1) a nicely curved line that completes a 360 degree turn and connects back to where it started and (2) a Massachusetts traffic control method that probably makes out of states behave the way they do. Circle was used at some time in the past to describe coalitions among geographical areas in what we now call Germany. Remember, the modern country of Germany did not even come into existence until the late 1800's when the nine principal circles confederated under the leadership of the Prussian King.

Before then, there were German kingdoms, principalities, duchies, margravates, provinces, administrative districts, city states, independent or Imperial cities, even the remnant of the Holy Roman Empire with its capitol at Vienna. Church-owned properties also confused matters, as some of them stretched over a number of borders, and had varying degrees of autonomy among the civil jurisdictions they overlapped. Marriages and other shifts in loyalties resulted in continual flux and change in political boundaries and coalitions.

Likewise, the spelling of place names evolved over time. It would be correct to equate the spellings "Suabia" and "Swabia", but impossible to exactly locate its boundaries. They changed over time.

At the home of a friend, Joyce found an Eastern Continent Gazetteer published in 1808. Ancient gazetteers are the best place to look for place names as they existed back before our families left their Deutchischen places of origin. If you are not afraid of "German Old Script", all the Family History Centers run by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints have on microfiche copies of "Meyers-Ortts" (or something like that) gazetteer of Germany before its confederation.

The old 1808 gazetteer shows "Suabia", a circle of Germany, bounded on the North by Franconia and the circle of the Lower Rhine, on the West by that circle and Alsace, on the South by Switzerland, and on the East by Bavaria. It contains [you need to read that as it contained at the time this gazetteer was published in 1808] the duchy of Wirtenburg (sometimes spelled Wuerrtemberg), the margravate of Baden, the principalities of HoenZollern, Oetingen, and Mindelheim, the bishoprics of Augsburg, Constance, and Coire, with several abbeys and imperial towns".

Thoughts To Ponder

by Joyce Ball Brown
and Dexter Eustis

What makes a person German?

Romans coined the term Germanic, in reference to wild tribes to the north, partially and only temporarily quelled by the famous Germanicus. The Germans were not totally impressed by him, but history was written by the Romans. In a few centuries though, the Germans will swallow up the Holy Roman Empire and move its capitol to Vienna.

The Germanic Tribes included Franks, Bavarians, Helvetians, Saxons, Goths, Swabians, and hundreds of others. As classical Rome declined and fell, the Germans were united briefly by Karlomann, whom we English speakers call Charlemagne, whose domains extended all over western Europe, from Rome to Brussels.

Upheavals drove many Gaulic people across the English Channel, in a wave of migration that overwhelmed the prior inhabitants whose tribes went by such names as Jutes, Picts, and Angles. Even now, although they were later swamped by waves of Saxons and Normans, the influence of these Gaulic tribes lingers, though the spelling is now Gaelic.

throughout aal of Western Europe for a time. That klanguage was called Deutsch. After Karlomann died, his empire broke down into parts. Franconians had displaced many Gaullics in western regions destined eventually to become France. The eastern section was fragmented. Borders fluctuated. The "deutsch" language, though, persisted, and the term "Deutschesland" arose. Many "Deutsch" speaking regions escaped inclusion when Germany eventually was formed. Inhabitants of Holland, or the Netherlands, the nearest "Deutsch" speakers to England, were called Dutch by the English.

For various political reasons, Germanic people were encouraged to migrate into eastern areas. Transylvania (then part of Hungary) was settled by people from along the Rhine and Moselle. It is not entirely clear why they were called Saxons, but hey, we have been called worse. Similar migrations took us into places like Schlesian (now Silesia divided into Czech Republic and Poland), Bessarabia (in the part of Romania broken off as Moldova) and onwards into Ukraine, Slovakia, and southern Russia.

Hundreds of years later these "German colonists" would be pawns in wars known as WWI and WWII. How fortunate we were to escape from the the fatherland when we did. One motivating factor for our having left was devastation of our homes and military conscriptions related to the almost continual warfare among the Germans and between them and the French in the area of the lower Rhine.

When "Deutsch" speaking people arrived in this country, they were called Dutch. They did not mind. They were from a place called Deutschesland in their language. The first New Yorkers, back when it was New Holland, were Dutch people from what is now the Netherlands. Pennsylvania Dutch are more likely to have originated in what is now Germany. My mother often said she had a Dutch grandmotier, actually a great great grandmother, Annie Vannah (Werner), whose German ancestry traces back to the lower Rhine area in the principality of Nassua-Dillenberg, roughly between Baden and Bavaria.

Deutsch is correctly translated as German. And Deutschesland can roughly be translated as Germany. Hitler based expansionist claims to surrounding areas based on the people being part of the greater German-speaking race. Many Austrians now speak other languages.
